VALUE-ADDED GRAIN PRODUCTS

Value-added grains go into making several retail products that you may see at your local grocery store such as breakfast cereals, tortillas, chips, popcorn, breads, and more! Below, the top box on the left shows a value-added grain. The rectangle below that shows products that can be produced from that grain. Trace the words to the right. Then, as a class, talk about what other products you use at home that are produced from value-added grains.
